Acceptable Use Policy

1. General Information.
As used herein the term “Subscriber” or “Subscribers” shall include any and all users, customers, subscribers, affiliates (including without limitation customers or non-customers) to whom Bluehost provides links or banners to promote the services or products of Bluehost or any third party, the services or products of which are offered by or obtained through or in connection with Bluehost, resellers or others (i) who sign up, use or obtain services or products from Bluehost or from any third party services or products of which are offered by or obtained through or in connection with Bluehost, or (ii) who visit the Web site of Bluehost Web Hosting or of any such third party. As a provider of Internet World Wide Web access, Web site hosting and other Internet-related services, Bluehost (“Bluehost”) offers Subscribers the means to acquire and disseminate a wealth of public, private, commercial, and non-commercial information. Bluehost respects that the Internet provides a forum for free and open discussion and dissemination of information; however, when there are competing interests at issue, Bluehost reserves the right to take certain preventative or corrective actions. In order to protect these competing interests, Bluehost has developed this Acceptable Use Policy (“AUP”), which supplements and expands certain terms of each Subscriber’s respective service agreement and is intended as a guide to the Subscriber’s rights and obligations when utilizing Bluehost services. This AUP will be reviewed from time to time. A Subscriber’s use of Bluehost services after changes to the AUP are posted on Bluehost Web hosting Web site, under the Terms of Service section, will constitute the Subscriber’s acceptance of any new or additional terms of the AUP that result from those changes. One important aspect of the Internet is that no one party owns or controls it. This fact accounts for much of the Internet’s openness and value, but it also places a high premium on the judgment and responsibility of those who use the Internet. In both the information they acquire and the information they disseminate to others, when Subscribers or others obtain information through the Internet, they must keep in mind that Bluehost cannot and does not monitor, verify, warrant, or vouch for the accuracy and quality of the information that users may acquire. For this reason, the user must exercise his or her own judgment in relying on information obtained from the Internet. Bluehost will not be liable for any information its users, subscribers or others may create. When Subscribers or others place information on the Internet, they have the same liability as other authors for copyright infringement, defamation, and other harmful speech. Also, because the information they create is carried over Bluehost’s networks and reach a large number of people, including both Subscribers and Subscribers and non-subscribers of Bluehost, Subscribers’ postings to the Internet may affect others and may harm Bluehost’s goodwill, business reputation and operations. For these reasons, Subscribers violate Bluehost policy and the service agreement when they, their users, customers, subscribers, employees, affiliates, or subsidiaries engage in activities described herein.

2. Scope.
This AUP governs the usage of products and services of Bluehost or of any third party which are subscribed to or obtained through Bluehost (“the Services”). This AUP is incorporated by reference into each contract Bluehost or any such third party enters into with a Subscriber for the use of such Services. Bluehost may modify this AUP at any time without notice. In addition, this AUP is incorporated by reference into the Terms of Service applicable to the Web site of Bluehost, so that no person who utilizes the Web site of Bluehost Web Hosting regardless of whether that person is a Subscriber may take any action utilizing the Web site of Bluehost Web Hosting that a Subscriber would be prohibited to take utilizing the Services.

3. Purpose.
The purpose of this AUP is to enhance the quality of the Services and to protect Subscribers, and the Internet community as a whole, from illegal, irresponsible, or offensive Internet activities. This AUP applies to each Subscriber. Each Subscriber should use sound sense and good judgment in connection with the Services. Parents or guardians should always supervise minors using the Internet. Parents and guardians should remain aware at all times of what is on the Internet and how the minors under their care are using the Services and the Internet.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, it is exclusively Bluehost’s obligation to maintain and control passwords to Bluehost’s web sites, and Subscriber exclusively responsibility for all activities that occur in connection with Subscriber’s user name, password, and registered domain name(s), as well as any and all scripts or programs added to the account by the Subscriber or authorized users. Subscriber agrees to immediately notify Bluehost of any unauthorized uses of the Services or any other breaches of security. It is exclusively Bluehost’s responsibility to update and secure any programs or scripts available via the pPlane interface. Failure to update and secure any programs or scripts available via the pPlane interface may result in Bluehost either updating the programs and or scripts or suspending your account until they are updated. Bluehost will not be liable for any losses or damages of any kind, under any legal theory, caused by Subscribers’ failure to comply with any of the foregoing security obligations or caused by any person to whom Subscriber grants access to Subscriber’s Services, or due to any updates performed by Bluehost pursuant to the terms of this section.

5. Dedicated Hosting Password Policy.

It is the responsibility of the Subscriber to ensure that there is a valid email address and current root password for the Subscribers dedicated server on file to prevent downtime from forced password resets. Bluehost reserves the right to audit servers and perform administrative actions as needed. It is required that you use a secure password.
